

Tree of the Month

July 2021

Is awarded by Wild About Barrow to

Beech (Fagus sylvatica)
Holy Trinity Memorial Garden

For its sheer grandeur, handsome smooth bark and breathtakingly beautiful canopy.

This popular tree is often called the queen of British trees and although considered native in the south, is widely planted throughout the country. It was often chosen by Capability Brown and frequently painted by masters such as Gainsborough and Rembrandt.

Beech trees are an important food source for many species. Check out July 2021 Nature Notes at Wild About Barrow on the village website for more information on this.

Contact wildaboutbarrow@gmail.com for your suggestion for another month